Forecast For West Midlands
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Friday 29 Jan 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Widespread rain in southern and western regions.

This Evening and Tonight:
A dry evening for many but outbreaks of patchy rain are still possible. A large area of rain will arrive after midnight, heavy at times and possibly falling as snow. North and northeastern parts of the region remaining dry. Minimum temperature 0 deg C (32 deg F).

Saturday:
A cold and windy start, with the south and western areas continuing to see heavy rain, increasingly falling as snow. A cold, clear, and icy night follows with easing winds. Maximum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
A widespread frost Sunday, remaining cold, dry, and bright both Sunday and Monday. A chance of showers during Sunday evening. Risks of rain and snow Tuesday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.